2E.3: Heritage Impact Assessment: promoting sustainable urban development ~~~ 25 November 2020, 11.00 – 12.00 CET (17.00 – 18.00 WIB)

- Marrik Beilen – Director of KITLV (Royal Netherlands Institute for Southeast Asian and Caribbean Studies) in Jakarta and Director of the Office of Leiden University in Indonesia.
- Mara de Groot – Managing Director at the Centre for Global Heritage and Development
- Johannes Parindungan – Affiliated with the Department of Regional and Urban Planning, Universitas Brawijaya

2F: Adaptation for climate change and sustainable development

2F1: The role of forest and agricultural landscape restoration to support urban health and living conditions ~~~ 25 November 2020, 09.00 – 10.00 CET (15.00 – 16.00 WIB)

- Dr. René Verburg – Copernicus Institute, Utrecht University, the Netherlands
Johannes Parlindungan

Affiliated with the Department of Regional and Urban Planning, Universitas Brawijaya

Dr. Johannes Parlindungan is affiliated with the Department of Regional and Urban Planning, Universitas Brawijaya. His research focuses on the influence of urbanization on the perceived meanings of heritage sites.

Mara de Groot

Archaeologist and Managing Director, Centre for Global Heritage and Development

Mara de Groot is an archaeologist (by training) and Managing Director at the Centre for Global Heritage and Development, a joint initiative by Leiden University, Delft University of Technology and Erasmus University.